BASE BALL.

Local "fans" are quite emphatic in their approval of the stand taken by President Power, of the Inter-State, and Manager Coyle, of Wheeling, against the "farming" system. They will receive support from several other clubs and it is not unlikely that their strength will be sufficient to knock out this pernicious practice. Only last season the Fort Wayne team of "junior" players, was so strong that interest in the outcome of the race for the pennant was dispelled before the season was a month old.

Some of the "cranks" think the Wheeling management would have done better by taking Baker instead of Garvey. This is not true, for Garvey's record with the Notterslast year was as good as Baker's. This in the face of the fact that Garvey very seldom got the support that was accorded Baker. Harrington will keep Garvey in the straight and narrow path—all that is necessary to make a winning twirler out of the young Pittsburgher.

Though the schedule is not yet constructed it is likely Wheeling will open with Akron, probably at Wheeling.

Truehart Taylor, the Huntington pitcher, with whom Manager Coyle is negotiating, has written that he will return to college this spring, but will be at liberty in June, when it is probable he will sign a Wheeling contract for the balance of the season, although his terms are rather steep, says Manager Coyle.

The Fosteria Glass Company, of Monodville, is preparing to make extensive improvements and additions. A special meeting of the stockholders has been called for April 3, when the following resolutions will be presented:

1. To agree to adopt an agreement whereby the corporation was organized with a view to manufacturing and dealing in articles of glass and pottery and such other things as the stockholders may determine, as well as articles of glass.

2. To increase the number of shares of stock of the said company from one hundred to five thousand, of the par value of five hundred thousand dollars in all.

3. To authorize for the purpose of the said company, the purchase of real estate, including the site of the plant at Monodville, and the site of the plant at West Virginia.

Fifty Years Ago.

No theory of germs to chill
Affection's budding bliss;
When ardent lovers took their fill,
No microbes on their kisses.
How happy they were not to know
The germ-fad—go years ago.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

is the standard family remedy for the world for colds, coughs and lung diseases. It is not a palliative, and is not therefore put up in small cheap bottles. It is put up in large bottles for the household. They cost more but cure more.

Fads come and go but no theory or fad can overthrow the fact, that the greatest cure for all colds, coughs and throat and lung diseases, is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

50 Years of Cures.

AMUSEMENTS.

Karl Gardner, in "Karl, the Peddler," pleased the audience that gathered at the Opera House last evening. Mr. Gardner is just as much the "Sweet Singer" now that he was years ago. Like good wine he improves with age. Unfortunately his company is much broken up by sickness, three of the regular cast being absent last night. Notwithstanding this misfortune the piece was presented creditably.

"St. Plunkard."

The great impersonator of Yankee character, J. C. Lewis, supported by a double company, is to appear at the Grand Opera House, three nights and matinee, commencing next Monday. The play is one of the most realistic pictures of country life ever drawn. It has three acts which are brim full of funny situations and comic specialties. The company has a brass band and full orchestra, of which every member is a solo artist and make the famous burlesque farmer street parade.

Eddie Foy in "Off the Earth."

While the public is fickle, it is loyal, and no greater public favorite in the amusement world has arisen in the past few years than Eddie Foy, and he counts myriads of admirers where many others longer in the business and more self-important, cannot count them at all. Eddie Foy is a genius as an entertainer, and a prince among men in his social qualities. He is a prime favorite in all the larger cities, because his work is always new, novel and artistic, and there is always an air of familiarity with his company and his auditors that pleases all. Marie de Camp, Mary Morris, Ada E. E. Sayer, Oscar Hall and J. E. Sullivan render excellent support, while the forty beautiful women and many men are enough to draw a full house without the help of the genius of the star. If good shows are appreciated, a crowded house should greet Mr. Foy and his excellent company. Eddie Foy will appear in "Off the Earth," next Monday, March 8, at the Opera House.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

Late Intelligence of Operations in All of the West Virginia Fields.

The territory along Marrowbone creek, Mingo county, W. Va., has been attracting more or less attention for the past year. The notoriety that has been achieved has been brought about by tireless boomers rather than by substantial discoveries. With few exceptions, the territory has been tied up by scoundrels, who have no further interest in their holdings than to unload them at an advance and leave the country. In none of the wells drilled up to the present time has oil been found in paying quantities.

Reece, Shave & Co., of Lima, Ohio, have drilled a well on the James Brewer's lands, located three miles above the mouth of Marrowbone creek, to a depth of 1,500 feet. They got a little showing of oil and some gas in the Dunkard sand, and at 1,500 feet they got the Big Injun, and at 1,500 feet more gas, at 1,500 feet they got the Big Injun. It is in that locality, time formation instead of a sand, as in the producing field of Pennsylvania. At 1,500 feet drilling was suspended and the well abandoned.

The Captain Allen farm, further up on the same creek, has been plugged with a string of tools at a depth of 1,100 feet. Matters have been still further complicated by the loss of a socket and part of the rope in the hole. The owners are undetermined as yet whether to try to clear the pole or abandon it.

The Squire Was Happy.

Yesterday was a busy day for Squire Schultze. He was kept busy acknowledging vouchers for pensioners, and incidentally discussing the Tuesday morning fire, and his daughter celebrated her seventeenth birthday. But the genial squire considered it a happy day, for a Republican President and governor were inaugurated yesterday.

Appeal to Worst Elements.

Philadelphia Times: The fake newspapers of New York, which at times are sarcastically referred to as the exemplars of "new journalism," have been attempting in recent issues to appeal to the worst elements of human nature by publishing illustrations of the poorly constructed private car which conveyed Abraham Lincoln to Washington and the painfully loaded William McKinley at the capital of the nation, where he will to-morrow be inaugurated as its President. To men of even ordinary intelligence this sort of cheap, dime news-mongering newspaper work means nothing that does not command contempt. But to those unfamiliar with the history of the country, it may suggest that to-day our great rulers travel under more patrician conditions than surrounded "The Rail-Splitter of Illinois." Needless to say to you that Lincoln in his day traveled in a very best railroad conveyance that could then be supplied, as does McKinley, at the present time; and if the railroad companies of the early '60s could have given Lincoln the accommodations that are enjoyed by McKinley to-day, "Old Uncle Abe" would have ridden on his way to Washington surrounded with the sumptuous conditions of travel which distinguish the advanced conditions of those times.

And who would have it otherwise? Why should not the man who has been selected as the chief executive of the republic move from his private home to the national habitude with every comfort, with every provision for safety, that would be given to many men in private life? Were McKinley narrow-minded enough to have brought from the shed in the far western city, where it is now rotting away, in neglected old age, the ramshackle conveyance that carried Lincoln to Washington, he would be accused by these same fake journals of demagoguery of the worst kind, and properly so. The matter scarcely permits of argument.

MARTIN'S FERRY.

Haps and Mishaps in the Thriving City Across the River.

The funeral of the late Thomas J. Greer will take place to-morrow (Saturday) afternoon, at 2 o'clock. The interment will be at Riverview cemetery. The deceased learned his trade in Chester county, Pa., and located in Martin's Ferry, in 1857, was employed in William Mann's foundry from that time until December, 1895, and was foreman of this establishment thirty-five years. He was married in 1858. His only son, W. H. Greer, resides at Clinton, Illinois, where a sister also lives. Another sister resides in New York and the third in Chester county, Pa. The death of Mr. Greer has caused universal sorrow and the widow and children have the sympathy of their many friends.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church, electing officers yesterday afternoon: President, Mrs. George H. Smith; vice president, Mrs. Will H. Hall and Mrs. William M. Lupton; recording secretary, Mrs. W. R. Shuttlesworth; treasurer, Mrs. B. O. Williams. The membership is fifty-four, with an average attendance at each monthly meeting of twenty-five.

The inaugural social given at the Masonic hall last night, by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, realized a net sum of money. The tables were gracefully presided over by the ladies and the arrangements were perfect. There were a number of interesting features.

Quarterly meeting will be held in the Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday. A meeting will be held to-morrow evening. Presiding Elder Osborne will be present.

Miss Lola Renard, of B. F. Brady's store, will engage in the millinery business in the room in the opera house building formerly occupied by A. D. Newland.

Rev. and Mrs. S. J. Bogle returned yesterday from Kenton, Ohio, where their son, Rev. Charles Bogle, was married.

Bert Coss will return to Indiana, Pa., to-morrow, where he is employed by the Northwood Glass Company.

Standard Council, Junior Order United American Mechanics, had work in the initial degree last night.

David R. Thoburn, trustee, has sold to Mr. Julia Eick, lot No. 52; consideration, $250.

Charles Williams, of the Aetna-Standard, is visiting relatives at New Castle, Pa.

Allan Biggs, of West Liberty, visited his brother, George T. Biggs, yesterday.

Miss Mollie Burson has recovered sufficiently to be able to be on the streets.

Sheet mills No. 15, 16 and 17 at the Aetna-Standard will resume on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Heaton are entertaining Miss Anna Tilton, of Portland.

Mrs. William Gilman, who has been sick several weeks, is able to be out.

Mrs. Miller, of Mingo Junction, called on old friends here yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Williams spent yesterday at West Wheeling.

Mrs. Richard Stewart, who has been very sick, is improving.

William Palmer is visiting at Martinsburg, W. Va.

Edward Schofield was some better yesterday.

BENWOOD.

Live News Items From the Lively Industrial Town.

Michael Higgins was put in a cell in the lock-up on Wednesday night, at the request of some of his friends, who think he is suffering from temporary mental aberration. He will probably be removed to a hospital to-day, for treatment, and it is hoped that he will soon recover.

There is not so much sickness in Benwood now, as there was during the past month. The grip has but few victims, and measles is also scarce. Druggists report a small demand for quinine this week.

The funeral of Mrs. Lydia Sharp took place from her late residence, yesterday afternoon, about 2 o'clock. The interment was at McMechen.

The real estate market is expected to boom up brighter shortly, and considerable inquiry is being made relative to property transfers.

Now that the Lenten season is on social gatherings will have few, as Lent is given due observance in Benwood.

The splendid weather yesterday, probably accounted for the large throng in the Benwood Southern Electric line.

Flags were displayed yesterday at the residences of Mayor Sheppard, Albert Serig and many others.

John Haggers, of Wheeling, was visiting at the city building yesterday.

BELLARE.

All Sorts of Local News and Gossip From the Glass City.

Two men, named Butler and Flanagan, and a boy named Getroast, were arrested by the Bellare police on complaint of the bottle company. This company some time ago built a coal shed near the old Baltimore & Ohio round-house and put in several loads of slack, so as to have a stock on hand in case of a miners' strike. All the coal has been stolen and the above named persons were tearing the shed down and carrying the lumber away when they were caught by the police. At the hearing yesterday morning Mr. G. W. Yost, of the bottle company, refused to make complaint against them and they were dismissed, after receiving a lecture from the mayor, who told them the next party caught would be sent to jail and made pay a fine besides.

Mr. Jacob Wassner and Miss Maggie Hazel, well-known young people of this city, were married Wednesday evening by Rev. H. S. Boyd, at their newly furnished house on Noble street. The young couple went to housekeeping immediately and their friends join in the best wishes for their future success and happiness.

Howard S. Wilson gave his celebrated lecture, "Ben Hur," last night at the United Presbyterian church to a large audience. One hundred stereoscopic views were shown. The lecture was fine and everybody was well pleased.

Several boys were arrested by Constable Hazel for disturbing a religious meeting at St. Joseph. They were taken before Squire Noble yesterday afternoon at the city hall and three pleaded guilty and were fined, while the others were dismissed.

Mr. Julius Well, the enterprising dry goods merchant, of this city, and Miss Minnie Samuels, of New York, were married last night at the bride's home.
